

The Hunter Clip

Partial Clips: The Hunter Clip This clip is another choice for active riders. Though it doesn't offer much warmth, and the horse will have to be blanketed as if he were fully clipped, the hunter clip does leave some hair for protection in the saddle area and on the horse's legs. To blanket a horse that is fully clipped, you'll need: a sheet and various stable rugs, which can be layered for changing conditions; a quarter-sheet to keep his back warm while riding on really cold days; and a turnout rug for outdoor protection.
