

Caution! Horses

A vet identifies top horse hazards that can easily be avoided.

By Laura Riley, DVM

May 2007

I once heard an old horseman say, "Horses have a designated place to die and they spend their entire lives looking for it." And it does seem that some horses have extremely hard luck and are very prone to accident and injury.

But let's look at a few hazards that seem to hurt our horses over and over that we have some control over; the things that take me away from the family picnic to patch up.

For the full article, pick up the May 2007 issue of HORSE ILLUSTRATED.

Do you like this excerpt? Subscribe Now to read more like it.