Bay Area Pregnant Horse Webcam Draws Thousands

The advent of the webcam has really given people a chance to see things they normally would never get to, including an inside look at a pregnant horse in Petaluma, NBC11's Jean Elle reports. Read more >>

A Mystery at Hong Kong Horse Racing Track

It was a device worthy of Rube Goldberg, or perhaps Wile E. Coyote. A remote-controlled mechanism with a dozen launching tubes was found buried in the turf at Hong Kong's most famous horse racing track last week; it was rigged with compressed air to fire tiny, liquid-filled darts into the bellies of horses at the starting gate, from The New York Times.
