

HorseChannel Newswire

Royal equestrian to star in Internet ad; 3-limbed horse gets prosthetic leg; Scientists looking for clues into Australia's deadly horse virus

July 26, 2008

Top Story

KY Governor Creates Horse Racing Commission

Gov. Steve Beshear has appointed a commission to study the economic viability of Kentucky's horse racing industry, from KYPost.com. Read more >>

International News

Zara Phillips stars in Land Rover internet advert

Eventing world champion Zara Phillips is starring in a light-hearted major internet advertising campaign from Land Rover, from Horse and Hound. Read more >>

Hope horse autopsy will give clues to Hendra virus

Scientists are hoping an autopsy on a horse that died from Hendra virus in south-east Queensland, Australia, will provide clues to fighting the disease, from ABC News. Read more >>

Across the Country

3-limbed horse tries out magic leg

By all accounts, Lovey the horse should've died a year ago, from the Arkansas Democrat Gazette. Read more >>

Three Hurt in Horse Carriage Wreck

Three people were hurt in a horse and carriage accident, from First Coast News. Read more >>

4-year-old suffers serious injuries after being kicked by horse

A 4-year-old Virginia Beach girl was seriously hurt when she was kicked in the head by a family horse, from MyFox Hampton Roads. Read more >>