United States Equestrian Federation launches website offering Olympic coverage

August 8, 2008

Don't miss a second of the equestrian portion of the 2008 Olympic Games.

The United States Equestrian Federation (USEF) has launched TeamUSA, a website offering equestrian coverage of the 2008 Olympic Games.

The site will provide insight about who the horses and riders are and how they got to the Olympics. It will also provide the latest news from Hong Kong, including photos, results and rider biographies.

TeamUSA can be found at www.usef.org/teamusa/home.aspx
