

HorseChannel Newswire

Students win award for WEG presentation; Eighth horse euthanized after Texas stable fire; Anonymous donors support Boston's mounted police force

May 26, 2009

2010 World Equestrian Games

Students get the word out about WEG

The organizers of the 2010 Alltech FEI World Equestrian Games have spent many dollars to get the word out about the two-week event, using sophisticated marketing plans, expensive "branding" consultants and any number of pricey advertisements. From The Lexington Herald-Leader. Read more >>

Equine Welfare

Horses seized; donations needed to care for them

The Florence Area Humane Society is asking for donations to help them take care of six horses and a pony that they say were underfed and some at the brink of death. From Carolina Life. Read more >>

Racing News

Agent: Jockey ``not likely to walk" after accident

An agent for jockey Rene Douglas says the rider might have been paralyzed after being thrown from his horse during a race at Arlington Park in suburban Chicago. From The Chicago Tribune. Read more >>

In Other News

8th horse burned in stables fire dies

An eighth horse has died after a fire that destroyed the stables at the Circle L 5 Riding Club in east Fort Worth. From The Houston Chronicle. Read more >>

Horse therapy helping Ft. Huachuca soldiers cope with war stress

For soldiers coming back from Afghanistan or Iraq, the transition back into society can be a tough one. From KVOA. Read more >>

Galloping into history?

With their steady gaits and sleepy demeanor, the horses that clip and clop along the paths of the Public Garden, Boston Common, and other city parks would seem unlikely subjects of another debate over social class in Boston. From The Boston Globe. Read more >>

Yesterday's News >>