

HorseChannel Newswire

Isabell Werth banned from competition on doping charges; Washington city removes downtown hitching rings; Missing New Jersey horse returns home safely

June 25, 2009

Equestrian Sport

Olympic champion Werth banned after horse's positive test

Germany's triple Olympic dressage gold medallist Isabell Werth was suspended on Wednesday after her horse Whisper tested positive for the banned sedative fluphenazine on May 30. From The Guardian. Read more >>

In Other News

Adopt a wild horse at Red Man Ranch

This is your chance to adopt a wild horse and save a living legend. Yearlings, mares and studs/geldings will be available for adoption at Red Man Ranch and Arena in Shrewsbury Township. From York Daily Record. Read more >>

Horse-hitching rings removed from Woodland sidewalks

Replicas of steel rings that for decades were used for hitching horses in downtown Woodland have been removed by the city after being deemed unsafe. From The Daily News. Read more >>

Boston Police Defend Decision To Disband Horse Unit

Boston Police officials explained their rationale for the elimination of the department's mounted unit. From WBUR. Read more >>

Artist's work to benefit Horse Park

Caldwell County's links to the Kentucky horse industry continue this weekend at the Kentucky Horse Park with artist Brigitte Koltinsky. From The Times-Leader. Read more >>

Missing horse, Peaches, found safe in Knowlton Township

Peaches the palomino was found safe and sound Monday in the same municipality where she went missing. From Lehigh Valley Live. Read more >>

Yesterday's News >>