

HorseChannel Newswire

Lexington Police Department looks to expand for World Equestrian Games; Judge has ruled BLM's removal of Colorado Wild Horses illegal; Auditions continue for "Morgan Idol" contest

August 8, 2009

Equine Welfare

Jefferson Co. seeking homes for abused horses

Sixteen horses and one donkey taken from their ranch during an animal abuse investigation are now up for adoption. From KDVR. Read more >>

Portland mayor seeks tweets on PETA's proposed horse carriage ban

Mayor Sam Adams is taking input about an animal rights group's attempts to ban horse-drawn carriages after an older horse died downtown on Aug. 1. From KTVB. Read more >>

In Other News

Chief Bastin Interviewed by ABC 36

Lexington and the rest of Central Kentucky is preparing for the 2010 World Equestrian Games. From WTVQ. Read more >>

Judge Lets Wild Horses Stay in Colorado Area

The Bureau of Land Management violated federal law when it decided to remove wild horses from an area in northwestern Colorado, a federal judge in Washington, D.C., ruled. From Courthouse News Service. Read more >>

AMHA Morgan Idol Competition Continues

AMHA has had a brisk response to the Morgan Idol competition being conducted at AMHA Regional shows! From AMHA. Read more >>

Yesterday's News >>