

HorseChannel Newswire

Lexington prepares for the 2010 World Equestrian Games; Chicago carriage drivers charged with animal cruelty; Registration open for USEF Youth Convention

September 26, 2009

2010 World Equestrian Games

Games in one year ready or not

Exactly one year from Friday, the 2010 Alltech FEI World Equestrian Games will begin. From The Lexington Herald-Leader. Read more >>

Equine Welfare

Carriage drivers guilty of mistreating horses

Two former carriage drivers left a Cook County courtroom distraught Wednesday after a judge convicted them of mistreating their horses. From The Chicago Tribune. Read more >>

In Other News

Equestrian expo will benefit SPCA

It's an opportunity for prospective home owners to learn more about some of the equestrian communities and their amenities. From The Aiken Standard. Read more >>

Registration Now Open for the 2010 EQUUS Foundation/USEF Youth Convention

The third annual 2010 EQUUS Foundation/United States Equestrian Federation Youth Convention will take place on Saturday, January 16, 2010, at the Louisville Marriott Downtown, in Louisville, KY. From USEF. Read more >>

2009 Grand National Show to be Presented Live Online!

The Grand National & World Championship Morgan Horse Show is almost here! And you don't have to miss a single minute of the excitement. From AMHA. Read more >>

More Than $50,000 in Scholarships Awarded Annually to Young Reiners

The National Reining Horse Association is proud to award top National Reining Horse Youth Association (NRHyA) reiners each year with college scholarships provided through NRHyA and Reining Horse Sports Foundation. From NRHA. Read more >>

Yesterday's News >>