

HorseChannel Newswire

USTA hosts adoption fair for racehorses and greyhounds; Equestrian Festival begins in Florida; Police horses blessed on World Animal Day

October 6, 2009

Equine Welfare

USTA and Goshen Museum to Host Adoption Fair

The United States Trotting Association and the Harness Racing Museum and Hall of Fame will team to present an adoption fair, featuring race horses and greyhounds, on Saturday, October 17, 2009. From SBOANJ. Read more >>

In Other News

Farriers keep alive the art of shoeing horses

From the Civil War to the taming of the West to the Kentucky Derby, horses have played an essential role in the forging of American history, and the farrier has been there for every stride. From CNN. Read more >>

Stolen horse brings families together

If horses could talk, a 13-year-old medicine hat paint gelding named Max would have a story tell about where he's been for the last 58 weeks. From The News-Leader. Read more >>

World spotlight on Palm Beach County's $732 million equestrian industry with festival under way

From Sweden to Tennessee, people from all over will come to the Fall Circuit of the Equestrian Festival in Palm Beach County to watch the races and perform in them, too. From The Palm Beach Post. Read more >>

Police horses blessed by Buddhist

The Venerable Mary Reavey blessed a number of pets and other animals as part of the Jamyang Buddhist Centre's celebrations of World Animal Day. From BBC News. Read more >>

Want to relax in Los Angeles? Take a horseback ride

For most tourists, visiting Los Angeles includes stopping in Hollywood and making a side trip to Rodeo Drive in Beverly Hills. From The Seattle Times. Read more >>

Yesterday's News >>