

HorseChannel Newswire

Watch World Cup Dressage competition on FEI TV; Plantation Field Horse Trials hosts equine cardiovascular research study; AMHA names winner of the Win a Morgan youth essay contest

October 22, 2009

Equestrian Sport

Preview of the FEI World Cup™ Dressage

When the FEI World Cup™ Dressage series was first conceived back in 1985 it would have been difficult to imagine that this equestrian discipline would blossom as it has done over the intervening years. From FEI. Read more >>

Equine Welfare

No answers on abandoned horse

The abandoned horse dropped off at the Gadsden County Animal Shelter has triggered questions and outrage among some, although no residents spoke publicly during Tuesday's Gadsden County Commission meeting. From The Tallahassee Democrat. Read more >>

Equine Health

Plantation Field Horse Trials Hosts United States Eventing Association Equine Cardiovascular and Pulmonary Research Study

Plantation Field Horse Trials in Unionville, PA, was the host site for the preliminary phase of the United States Eventing Association (USEA) Equine Cardiovascular and Pulmonary Research Study over the weekend of September 18-20. From USEF. Read more >>

In Other News

The healing power of the horse

Many people and organizations today are using horses in the healing process. From Vail Daily. Read more >>Denny Hales Arena Dedicated at All American Quarter Horse Congress

Denny Hales, who passed away on March 29, 2009, due to a sudden heart attack, served as the executive vice president of the Ohio Quarter Horse Association for more than 20 years, beginning his position with OQHA in 1988. From AQHA. <http://www.aqha.com/news/2009PressReleases/102009dennyhalesarenadedication.html>

AMHA/Team Morgan Essay Contest Winner Revealed

Congratulations to 12-year-old Katerina Barrett of Middletown, Maryland, who was announced October 17 as the 2009 AMHA/Team Morgan Win a Morgan Horse Contest winner! From AMHA. Read more >>

Yesterday's News >>