

HorseChannel Newswire

Top sporthorses ready to compete in Syracuse; Rutgers offers race horse physiology seminar; Equestrian reality show premiers on Canada's CMT

October 29, 2009

Equestrian Sport

Sporthorse Tournament draws world-class horses

450 horses are now stabled in downtown Syracuse, at the Oncenter parking garage and in the War Memorial basement, and seeing them compete has become a fall tradition for area residents. From CNY Central. Read more >>

Racing News

Zenyatta tops Breeders' Cup pre-entries

Leading mare Zenyatta leads a list of 166 horses who have been pre-entered for next week's 26th annual Breeders' Cup World Championships at Santa Anita Park. From The Miami Herald. Read more >>

In Other News

Specialized Training Course Offered

Conditioning world class athletes and their equine counterparts are so similar that some of the advances made to prepare the stars of track and field may be applicable to the stars of the racetrack. From Standardbred Canada. Read more >>

Horses help Gilbert teens learn about themselves

No matter how many visits 12-year-old Leah Crist makes to Fancy Ranch, her lesson horse Gracie will never be saddled for riding. From AZ Central. Read more >>

Equine exercise

The six high school students in Margaret McAtee's personal and social responsibility class looked nervous. From The Casper Tribune. Read more >>

Red carpet rolling out in Stouffville for reality show

When Jennalyn Webber was hired to be Wendigo Farms' barn manager, it came with more than 17 horses, two staff and two owners. From YorkRegion.com. Read more >>

Yesterdays' News >>