

HorseChannel Newswire

World Equestrian Games and Breyer Model Horses form partnership; Virginia Tech launches new equine education program; Paint Association seeks 2010 World Show artist

November 14, 2009

2010 World Equestrian Games

WEG partners with Breyer model horses

Let the games' merchandising begin: Breyer, modeler of all things small and horsey, has signed on as a sponsor of the 2010 Alltech FEI World Equestrian Games. From The Lexington Herald-Leader. Read more >>

In Other News

Paralysed jockey finds challenge in equestrian

An Ashburton jockey paralysed in a race fall seven years ago believed she would never ride again before turning to equestrian. From The Press. Read more >>

Brief, Productive Love Affair With 'Big Dog'

When Christopher Columbus first came to America, there were no natives on horseback to greet him. From The New York Times. Read more >>

New equine education program in Middleburg, Va., in development

The Virginia Tech College of Agriculture and Life Sciences has announced plans to create a new equine education program at the Middleburg Agricultural Research and Extension Center (MARE Center) located in Middleburg, Va. From Virginia Tech. Read more >>

Apply now to be APHA's 2010 World Show artist

Can you create an image of an American Paint Horse that captures the emotion that Paint enthusiasts feel for their breed? From APHA. Read more >>

Celebrate The Holidays With Appaloosa Greeting Cards

The holiday season is upon us once again, and it's time to send friends and family well wishes. From ApHC. Read more >>

Check Out AMHA's Video Library

Did you know you can watch lots of Morgan videos on www.morganhorse.com? From AMHA. Read more >>

Yesterday's News >>