The American Quarter Horse Association has extended its relationship with America's leading shipping company, FedEx, for two years.

"The relationship with FedEx is a very important one for AQHA because they provide so many services to all AQHA members in the United States," said Bill Brewer, AQHA Executive Vice President. "We are honored to have such a prestigious company on board."

As the official shipping company of AQHA, FedEx offers a wide range of benefits to members, including discounts on FedEx Express, FedEx Ground and FedEx International shipping as well as on services at FedEx Kinko's. FedEx is the title sponsor of the FedEx Open Division at the AQHA World Championship Show and also supports AQHA's monthly magazine, America's Horse.
