

Dressage Training Online Now Offering the 2007 FEI-Level Trainers' Conference

Subscription-based service offers dressage training online.

01-23-2008

Swedish dressage star Jan Brink hosts the 2007 FEI-Level Trainers' Conference, available online.

DressageTrainingOnline.com, the exclusive Internet host partner to the United States Dressage Federation (USDF), currently has the entire 2007 FEI-Level Trainers' Conference available online. The conference is hosted by Swedish dressage star Jan Brink. Brink has been to numerous world championships, including the Olympics, World Equestrian Games, World Cup Championships and other top international shows.

The training conference incorporates horse and rider teams of all levels, from the young horse to those working at Grand Prix, and features Brink training and riding. In addition, there are three educational sessions: Succeed discusses equine digestion; Schleese Saddlery does a saddle fitting presentation; and Jan Brink shares his views on how to have a happy horse and a happy athlete.

DressageTrainingOnline.com will also feature the Adequan/USDF Convention, which will be online at the end of February.

DressageTrainingOnline.com is an online training tool where dressage riders can see international judges, judging tests, movement-by-movement, score-by-score, with full commentary. In addition, there are over 130 training sessions developed by some of the most elite trainers and riders from around the world.

DressageTrainingOnline.com is a subscription-based service (a one-month membership is $36).

DressageTrainingOnline.com also offers a free monthly newsletter, which includes clips of new videos and educational segments.

For more details, visit www.dressagetrainingonline.com.

*This event has ended*