

Get Out and Celebrate National Trails Day

There's a good reason to hit the trails this weekend.

June 6, 2008

The first Saturday in June is designated as National Trails Day (NTD) in the United States. On June 7, 2008, millions of equestrians, hikers, bikers and other outdoor enthusiasts are taking part in thousands of events nationwide in celebration of America's trails. These events include new trail dedications, workshops, educational exhibits, equestrian and mountain bike rides, rollerblading, trail maintenance and hikes.

National Trails Day is organized nationwide by the American Hiking Society, a national nonprofit trail advocacy group based in Washington, D.C., but all events are planned and carried out at the local level by conservation and recreation organizations, trail clubs and land managing agencies.

Originally established in 1993, NTD has grown to approximately 3,000 events across the country.
