

Why Can't Santa Come on Horseback?

With the help of Pony Xpression, now he can.

11-17-2007

Yes, we know. You haven't even carved your turkey yet and you're reading about Santa Claus. But hold your horses. This Santa-on-horseback idea is one worth considering. It's a concept in delivering packages and heartfelt holiday messages offered by Pony Xpression, based in Marilla, N.Y. According to Wayne Wolf, creator of the business (and, we're guessing, Santa's number one helper on horseback), the horses he rides for his deliveries are the three horses he uses for mounted police work. And to prevent any worries about the horses leaving a gift on someone's festively adorned front lawn, Wolf's horses wear diapers. Even better? Some of the proceeds from the fee for the Pony Xpression delivery go to a local food bank. To read more about this unique idea, visit www.ponyxpression.com. It might even give you and your barn buddies something fun and worthwhile to do this holiday season!