

Sport Horse National Arabian & Half-Arabian Championship Horse Show Underway

Set against the backdrop of Virginia's Shenandoah Valley, this horse show is the place to be.

09-29-2007

The 2007 Sport Horse National Arabian & Half-Arabian Championship Horse Show is celebrating its fifth anniversary Sept. 26-30, at the Virginia Horse Center in Lexington, Va. The event began on Wednesday with three rings of dressage classes. Dressage continued on Thursday and Friday, along with the sport horse in-hand class, sport horse under saddle, the jumper mini prix and the Half-Arabian/Anglo-Arabian sport horse show hack class.

This weekend's schedule is as follows:

Saturday, Sept. 29:

Opening Ceremonies/Anderson Arena

Musical Dressage Freestyle demo

Pleasure Carriage Driving

Sport horse Supreme Champion in Hand

Arabian Sport Horse Show Hack

Sunday, Sept 30:

Hunter Classic

The Sport Horse National Arabian & Half-Arabian Championship Horse Show is the only sport horse show offered by a breed association. From dressage to hunter jumper to pleasure carriage driving and more, the Arabian and half-Arabians prove themselves to be some of the best horse athletes in the world.

In addition to the prestigious show, visitors to the Sport Horse National Arabian & Half-Arabian Championship Horse Show experience a taste of Virginia's beautiful Shenandoah Valley.
